July 28 - 1913
10 a.m.

At tule ponds, fresh-water-fed, in Salicornia marsh, 1½ mi. West of Alvarado and south of Mt. Eden, Alameda Co.

Cinnamon Teal 6 young nearly fully with old female. While I am in blind, the bunch alights in pond at 35 yards distance. Old one had young bunch together, with head low, swimming slowly while old female with head high swims about anxiously in advance of squad. Many Killdeers about; two Least Sandpipers. Two Dowitchers came and lit about 30 yards at edge of pond; one at least is in red plumage. 4 gulls just lit in pond, one adult and three juveniles, and drank many times, like chicks, raising heads high at each swallow, then flew off south — Larus delawarensis. Have seen at least 4 Greater Yellow-legs: one following 4 Dowitchers as they fly by, and calling loudly, with some secondaries gone out of each wing; two others have lit at edge of pond and and are standing motionless, save for a deep bow at long intervals.

Red-breasted Dowitcher is probing industriously in mud at margin. He puts his whole soul into it. He has a deep guttural chirp uttered occasionally. When alarmed he "frazes" with head drawn close in to body and bill pointing down at angle of 45°.
Four Greater Yellow-legs are now in clamorous flight about the pond. Each has molting secondaries all being probably adults.
Dowitcher probes with main strength, seemingly putting in bill clear to the hilt! Dowitcher leaves with swift, straight-away flight, silently.
Several small flock of ducks fly past in the distance; also a cloud, fully 100, dunlins, wheeling and undulating ge mass over the marsh. Bryant jr flushed a ♀ Cinnamon Teal from bunch of tules at utter end of pond also a lone mudhen. The family of Cinnamon Teal are now up on dike waddling along plainly outlined against the sky. Another flock of 15 Cinnamon Teal have just dropt into pond. 3 Long-billed Dowitchers flew past, with chunky bodies, very long bills, red breasts, & white streaks, one conspicuous one on either side margining scapulars. 1:30 p.m. Hudsonian Curlew, one lone bird flew past low overhead. Flock of 30 or more Least or semi-palmated sandpipers. Large gulls evidently Herring, stop in frequently. Barn & Cliff Swallows are common, both with full-grown young. A large company of Cliff's fully 500, on telegraph wires in Alvarado. 27 Ring-billed Gulls came for a drink; all show molting primaries, some molting tailfeathers, although all but 3 are dark-plumaged they then cannot be birds of this year's hatching. Early migrating non-breeders? In the bunch of tules are a few tule wrens, evidently feeding young. Many passerine rusty sparrows and Bryant Marsh Sparrows out on salicornia marshes; also tracks of Clapper Rail in plenty in need of slaughter, and Bryant saw one of the birds. I saw an adult Marsh Hawk twice harrying over the marsh in usual fashion. Bobolink around windmills. Many Red-winged Blackbirds, about; evidently a roosting place in tule patch.

A Least Sandpiper (positively such), adult, with moth-ing inner primaries lit on pond edge 20 feet from my sunken barrel blind. The wind is blowing hard, and the bird simply stood hunched up facing the wind, until he suddenly took leave. Gulls keep coming for a moment, drink. Adults positively recognized as Delawarensis and nothing else. Ten Western Semipalmated Sandpipers lit for 2 minutes on mud bar 50 feet from me. Could see relatively long bills, and light patches at sides of rumps [tail].
